Dear Hal:

Enclosed is a copy of the story we did for Monday. Frankly, I was not very pleased with the way it turned out -- but it's awfully difficult to tell a complex story in just 180 words or so.

I did not have enough space on this page to include your address and how to get the book; but in the following days, I plan to do additional stories based on revelations in your book, and I promise to let radio stations know exactly how listeners can send for copies.

Again, Many, many thanks for rushing that book to me. I look forward to seeing (tomorrow) how the wires handle you press conference and what you had to say.

I'll call you on Tuesday.

Best,

Jon
